

Meet the Bloomsbury editors

We're always interested in hearing from you with new ideas for research and reference volumes as well as books for course use, particularly on social and environmental justice; race; gender; mental health and wellbeing; decolonisation; immigration and refugees; and the ways in which these topics intersect with contemporary issues in education.

Find guidance and resources for submitting a book proposal at bloomsbury.com/academic/submitting-a-proposal.

Interested in publishing open access? We'd be delighted to discuss your requirements. Visit bloomsbury.com/openaccess to find out more.

Alison Baker

Senior Publisher, Education
alison.baker@bloomsbury.com

I'm looking to commission in: Higher Education; Leadership and Management; Teacher Education (including Initial Teacher Training)

Mark Richardson

Senior Commissioning Editor, Education
mark.richardson@bloomsbury.com

I'm looking to commission in: Early Childhood; Childhood and Youth Studies; Comparative and International Education; Critical Pedagogy; Philosophy of Education

Maria Giovanna Brauzzi

Commissioning Editor, Education
maria.brauzzi@bloomsbury.com

I'm looking to commission in: ELT and TESOL; Language and Education; Language Arts and Literacy Education; Research Methods

Browse the full list of areas that we publish in at bloomsbury.com/academic/education

Stay in touch

Sign up to our newsletter at bloomsbury.com/academic-education-newsletter to hear about our latest books and offers, and follow us on Twitter at @BloomsburyAcEd.