

Meet the Bloomsbury editors

We're always interested in hearing from you with new ideas for research and reference volumes as well as books for course use, particularly on social and environmental justice; race; gender; mental health and wellbeing; decolonisation; immigration and refugees; and the ways in which these topics intersect with contemporary issues in education.

SRHE delegates: have a proposal you'd like to discuss with an editor?

Book an online meeting with Alison Baker at our Book Proposal Day on Wednesday 10th January 2024.

Scan the QR code below or visit bit.ly/3PMoMIY for more info and to book a slot.

Alison Baker

Senior Publisher, Education
alison.baker@bloomsbury.com

I'm looking to commission in: Higher Education; Leadership and Management; Teacher Education (including Initial Teacher Training)

Mark Richardson

Publisher, Education
mark.richardson@bloomsbury.com

I'm looking to commission in: Early Childhood; Childhood and Youth Studies; Comparative and International Education; Critical Pedagogy; Philosophy of Education

Maria Giovanna Brauzzi

Commissioning Editor, Education
maria.brauzzi@bloomsbury.com

I'm looking to commission in: ELT and TESOL; Language and Education; Language Arts and Literacy Education; Research Methods

Browse the full list of areas that we publish in at bloomsbury.com/academic/education

More resources

Find guidance and resources for submitting a book proposal at bloomsbury.com/academic/submitted-a-proposal Interested in publishing open access? Visit bloomsbury.com/openaccess to find out more.