International Research Conference 2025

28 November, Online

2 - 4 December 2025, East Midlands Conference Centre,
Nottingham, UK

Compassion, collegiality and communities in higher education: challenging the discourse

The SRHE annual international conference aims to advance the understanding of higher education, support and disseminate research and practice, and provide a platform for the perspectives and knowledge offered by systematic research and scholarship.

With an international membership which spans a broad range of the humanities and social sciences, the SRHE community includes researchers, students, policymakers, educational developers, professional services staff, and others with an interest in higher education.

Join us at the 2025 Conference to showcase your organisation to a UK and global audience, and position your brand at the forefront of cutting-edge academic discussion.
